Gladness Transformed to Gloom.

Among the passengers from Germany in the steamer Rhein, which arrived at the port of New York on Saturday, was Mr. Conrad Antenrielle, seventy-one years of age and a native of Bretler, in the Grand Duchy of Baden. With him were three daughters. They had come to rejoin his seven other children, who had long since come to this country and prospered. He was met by his brother and was greatly affected with feelings of joy. One of his sons dwells in Hudson City, N. J., and four sons and two daughters reside in Newark.

Arrangements were made to hold a generous family reunion in Newark yesterday, and in the meantime a visit was paid to the son in Hudson City. While there the old man became childish in his joy at having his kinder once more around him, and was unable to restrain his feelings. Suddenly, about two o'clock, he startled his loving children by exclaiming, "Have I really seen my children?" and fell back powerless. A doctor was sent for; but by the time he arrived "the lamp of life had fled." The old man actually died from over joy. Therefore the gladness of the Antenrielles in Newark yesterday was turned into a sad occasion of gloom and sorrow. The body is to be removed to Newark for interment.

A Man and His Daughter Killed by an Electric Ball.

A correspondent of the Independence Sentinel at Lone Rock, Mo., under date of April 30, writes:

"During the rain that fell here on last evening from a cloud from the southeast, fell an electric ball, striking the north side and west end of Mr. David Thomas' house, killing him and a grown daughter. All the family, consisting of nine persons, were in the room at the time, but none except the father and daughter were even stunned by the shock. The young lady was sitting near the end of the house, when the electricity came through and killed her instantly. Mr. Thomas was sitting, leaning against the north side, near a window. Two particles of the electric fluid passed in above the window to his head, and set his hair on fire, so shocking him that he died in a short time, though the fire was extinguished by his son, and water was applied to him freely to effect his recovery."
